8. Brief Description:

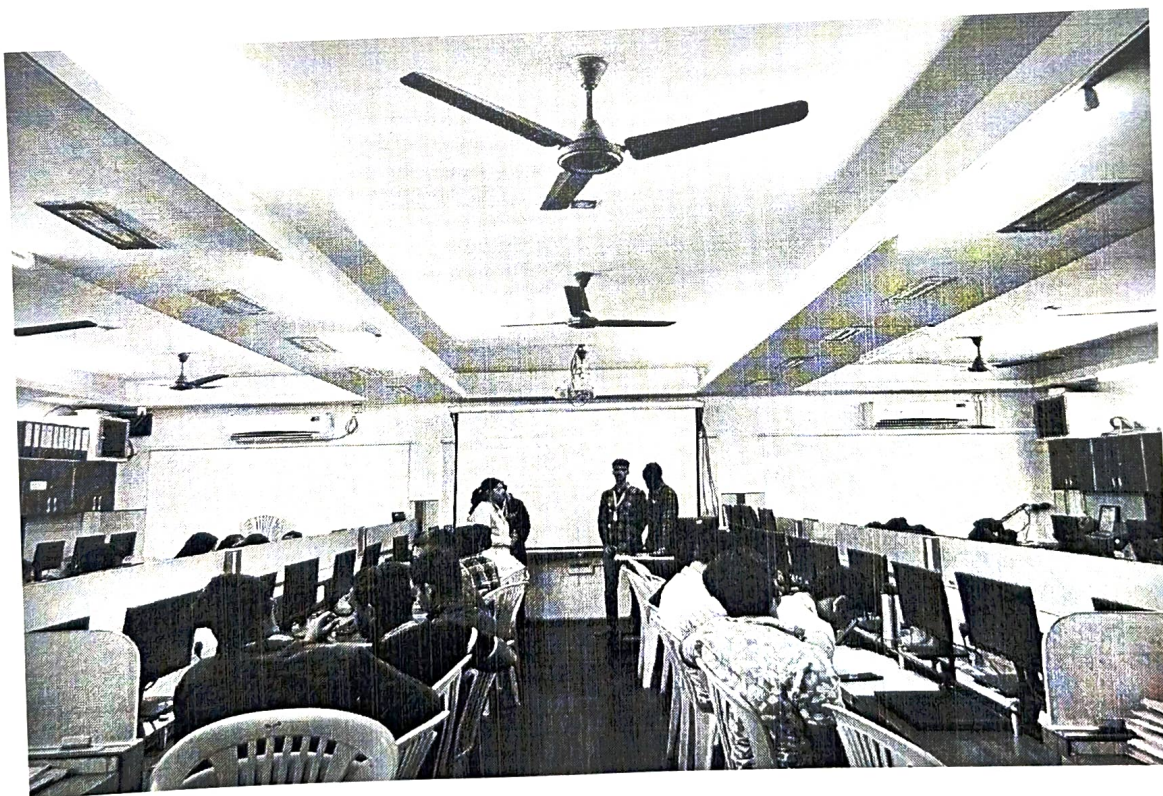

The Department of Computer Science, Vivekanand College, Kolhapur organized a PowerPoint Presentation activity on Wednesday and Thursday, 17th and 18th December, 2025 for the students of the department. The activity was organized to provide students with practical experience in preparing and delivering effective academic presentations. Dr. R. Y. Patil Madam guided the students throughout the activity. Students selected relevant academic and technical topics and prepared PowerPoint presentations using appropriate text, images, diagrams, charts, and other visual elements. They presented their topics before their peers and faculty members.

which helped them improve their communication, presentation, and technical skills. The activity also encouraged students to participate actively, share knowledge, and learn from each other. The program concluded with feedback and appreciation from the resource person and the faculty members.

9. Outcomes (whether the aim achieved):

- Students improved their PowerPoint presentation and technical communication skills.
- Students gained confidence in public speaking and presenting ideas before an audience.
- Students learned to organize information effectively using text, images, charts, and other visual aids.
- Students developed time management, creativity, and audience interaction skills.
- The activity successfully achieved its aim by encouraging active participation and enhancing students' overall presentation skills.
